

1.2.3 SUPD Response and Information

Suffolk University Police and Security Department (SUPD)

Working Together for Public Safety

Suffolk University is an urban campus in a world-class city and public safety is a top priority at all times. The Suffolk University Police and Security Department (SUPD) consists of full-time uniformed police and security officers who are on duty 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 52 weeks a year. The department is dedicated to deterring and detecting crime and security hazards through prevention, cooperation and enforcement of university regulations and state laws. Police officers may be assigned to roving patrols or fixed posts. Security officers are generally assigned to fixed posts at entrances to residence halls and other university buildings to monitor and control access. All of these officers provide high visibility as a deterrent to crime and make it convenient for member of the university community to report incidents or request assistance.

However, a truly safe campus can only be achieved with the cooperation of the entire University community, including faculty, staff, students, and visitors. Each member of the university community is urged to make a personal commitment to campus safety by incorporating sound safety and crime prevention practices into their daily lives and reporting crimes, suspicious activity and unusual situations to SUPD immediately. By working together we can keep our campus a safe and peaceful place to live, learn and work.

Cooperation with City Law Enforcement and Public Safety Agencies

The SUPD Dispatch Center, located on the lower level of Sargent Hall, has direct telephone and radio communications with the Boston and State Police Departments and will notify the Boston and/or State Police, Boston Fire Department, Boston Emergency Medical Services Department and other city or state public safety agencies as needed and appropriate whenever a major public safety incident is reported on or adjacent to Suffolk University premises. Specifically, BPD will be notified for all incidents that occur on or near university premises that require local police action and for all incidents involving firearms or other dangerous weapons, since SUPD police officers do not carry firearms. All telephone calls at the SUPD Dispatch Center are recorded.
